Jon's practice for nearly 30 years has focused on insurance coverage and extra-contractual claims, including claims of bad faith, representing some of the world's largest domestic and international insurance companies in complex claims and litigation throughout the U.S. In addition to being licensed in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, Jon now brings his extensive experience to the California market where he was recently admitted.

Jon has handled a wide variety of claims, including fires, explosions, construction defects, turbine failures, refractory losses, wind turbine failures, cyber and natural disasters. His practice includes evaluation of coverage under All-Risk, Builders Risk, Boiler and Machinery, Energy, Renewable Energy, Cyber and Contingency policies.

Clients retain Jon because of his ability to handle and resolve complex claims in an efficient and expedient manner. He is respected for his ability to identify the critical issues in a claim and advising clients on the best path to resolution.

In addition to coverage work, Jon is regularly retained to defend insurers in litigation of breach of contract and extracontractual claims. He has handled matters in numerous federal and state courts throughout the country.

Jon speaks frequently on topics relevant to the industry on first-party coverage matters and is a past chair of the ABA TIPS Property Insurance Law Committee.
