With experience in handling diverse litigation matters, Qianwei specializes in representing consumers and opt-out claimants in antitrust cartel and monopolization cases. Her practice spans across various industries, including technology, automotive, transportation, energy, financial, and pharmaceuticals. Qianwei has played a primary role in all critical stages of litigation in some of the nations largest antitrust cases, routinely collaborating with economic and industry experts on damages and pass-on issues.

Qianwei leads the firms international competition law practice. She has a wealth of legal knowledge and experience in assessing and pursuing antitrust claims with international components. She has collaborated with co-counsel in Canada, Asia, and Europe to secure recoveries for multinational corporations. Her international background and training equip her with the sophisticated skills necessary to navigate the unique legal and practical challenges of cross-border antitrust disputes.

Committed to thoughtful advocacy, Qianwei approaches all her cases with a measured and pragmatic mindset that combines legal expertise with practical problem-solving. In addition to her antitrust practice, she provides counseling in complex commercial disputes and data privacy matters. Qianwei is a past Chair of the California Lawyers Association Antitrust and Unfair Competition Law Section (n/k/a Antitrust and Consumer Protection Section) and currently serves as an Advisor of the Section.
