

Zelle International Taps Darren Thompson for Insurance Practice

Litigation Solicitor Brings Strong Scientific Background to Firm

January 26, 2016

Zelle International LLP, a litigation and dispute resolution firm, is expanding its London operation with the addition of solicitor Darren Thompson.

Thompson brings over 12 years' experience to the practice, handling liability and property disputes. Those areas will continue to be his focus at Zelle International, working with the existing team led by Jason Reeves, an English solicitor and attorney who is also licensed in Texas.

With his science background and technical experience, Thompson will offer significant value to the firm's clients on complex claims. His German language skills also facilitate acting for insurers and their German policyholders in English law claims

"Darren's background is unlike any other lawyer representing insurers," said Reeves. "He is a liability specialist with a deep scientific background to complement his substantial litigation experience. Combined with his proficiency in English law and German-language capacity, he is a perfect fit for Zelle International's team working with insurers and counsel throughout the world."

Thompson holds Bachelor of Science degrees in microbiology and German from the University of Manchester, a Master of Science degree in bioprocessing from University College London, and a law degree from The College of Law, London.

Zelle International is comprised of multi-lingual lawyers licensed / qualified in England and Wales, New York, Texas, California, Minnesota, Mexico and Spain.
