

Jason Reeves Quoted in Climate Liability News: Insurance Lawsuits Against Big Oil Could Be Next Wave in Climate Liability

July 19, 2019

Jason Reeves, a partner in the London office of Zelle, was quoted in a Climate Liability News article titled “Could Insurance Lawsuits Against Big Oil Be the Next Wave in Climate Liability?” The article questions whether lawsuits filed by insurance companies against the fossil fuel industry seeking to recoup payouts to policyholders for climate damages could become the second wave of climate change litigation. Click here to read “Could Insurance Lawsuits Against Big Oil Be the Next Wave in Climate Liability?”